Bush blasted by Dixon

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon on Wednesday called President George Bush's health care plan "bits and pieces that amount to nothing" and criticized a Dixon primary opponent, Albert Hofeld, for not proposing a plan of his own.

Dixon made the comments at a press conference at Memorial Hospital in Belleville.

"Last Thursday, President Bush laid out his much-awaited health care plan," Dixon said. "What he said not only wasn't worth waiting for, but tragically, it fails to be real reform of the health care system."

Dixon said the president's plan is neither substantive nor comprehensive, but rather "bits and pieces that amount to nothing."

Dixon, who said health care in America "needs real fundamental change," is one of 10 co-sponsors of the Health America Plan, a national health insurance proposal sponsored by Sen. George Mitchell of Maine, the majority leader.

Dixon said Bush's plan, which includes tax credits to help low-income families pay for private insurance, would not significantly help the estimated 37 million Americans with no health insurance or the 50 million who are underinsured.

He said the Bush plan contains (See DIXON, Page 8A)

Abominable — Neighborhood children along Cayuga Street joined together to build their own "abominable snowman," a 10-foot-tall one on the lawn of the Malkmar home, on Wednesday afternoon. The youngsters said it took them two hours to make the snowman. They stood on a chair to install the head and used a stick to put the hat on top. ## Venice studies drug testing cost

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

While saying the city probably can't afford to go much longer without a drug testing program for its employees, Venice alderman are wondering if the city can really afford one either.

Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols on Tuesday night gave the aldermen copies of four drug testing programs used by other area municipalities and told them to "mull it over a couple of weeks. Maybe pull out some bits and pieces you like from the different plans, and we'll discuss it at the next meeting."

The money question, Echols said, isn't the cost of actually testing for drugs, but the cost involved in a related drug rehabilitation program he said would probably have to be part of a grace period before a testing program could be put into place.

Echols estimated the rehabilitation cost could be as much as $20,000 per person.

"Now what I'm thinking is (rehabilitation) is only before the testing starts," Echols said.

"After that, I don't think the city should be in the position of holding people's hands. Once we have a policy in place, if someone is using the stuff, it should be lights out."

While considering the cost, Echols said the aldermen should also consider the potential cost to the city "if a street worker or a patrolman on the stuff takes a dump truck or a patrol car out and kills someone. Those kinds of suits can run into millions."

Echols said the aldermen should "use what you know and hear" to try to determine how many people might use the grace period.

"If we've got 20 or 30 candidates, maybe we should give the whole thing up. If we put that many people in rehab all at once, at $30,000 a head, then the city might as well close up shop and we might (See DRUGS, Page 8A) to be late a lot," Terrell said.

"I think, if we're going to spend money, it should be to train our supervisors to have them document things and get rid of these people."

Alderman Henry Fletcher strongly disagreed, and said drug abuse is "something that can be hidden" and that drug testing is the only way to be sure.

Terrell, a State Police officer, said the signs of drug abuse can be learned. He (See TERRELL, Page 8A)

Alderman opposes tests

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Venice Alderman Michael Terrell said Tuesday he doesn't believe the city should get into drug testing.

"I don't think we can afford it, and I don't think we have a drug problem. A drug problem would be the majority of the people using drugs, and I don't think that's true here," he said.

Terrell said that, if a person is using drugs or abusing alcohol, it will show in his or her work.

"We have rules already. If someone is using crack, or is an alcoholic, they're going to miss a lot of work. They're going

Illinois Power gets 9 percent rate increase

SPRINGFIELD — About 10,000 Illinois Power Co. customers in the area will be hit with a 9.1 percent rate increase as early as Friday.

The increase, approved by the Illinois Commerce Commission Tuesday, is IP's third in less than three years.

The rate hike passes on the remainder of Clinton nuclear power plant costs that had not previously been included in the utility's rates.

"I don't expect to see this company back before the commission for a long time," said ICC Chairman Terry Barnich.

Most of the $100 million a year increase granted IP Tuesday is to cover the remainder of the firm's investment in Clinton, less a $660 million penalty imposed earlier for "mismanagement" of construction.

IP rate increases in June 1990 and March 1989 were also almost entirely attributed to the Clinton costs.

Illinois Power had vowed to keep returning to the commission until the rest of the Clinton cost had been included in its rate base.

Even before the latest rate increase, the largest of the last three, IP's electric rates were higher than those of the area's two other major utilities, Union Electric Co. and Central Illinois Public Service Co.

IP's territory includes most of Madison County, except the Alton-Godfrey area, and parts of Jersey and Macoupin counties.

Illinois Power had requested a 17 percent or $38 million electric rate boost, but an ICC hearing examiner last month recommended only a $126 million or 11.6 percent increase. Barnich said the commission concluded the utility had not justified the higher amounts.

The rate hike could go into effect as early as Friday. The ICC estimates a typical residential customer using 9,200 kilowatt hours per year will pay about $84 more annually for electricity. An average monthly bill of about $72 will go to $80, said ICC spokeswoman Beth Bosch.

However, the impact on residential customers could be changed by a separate vote to be taken by the ICC in July on "rate design."

True love: Proposal comes in front of 400

By Richard Welch
Correspondent

Jim Seubert's heart is in the right place.

On Jan. 24, in front of an estimated crowd of 400 at a singles dance held at the Collinsville Holiday Inn, he proposed to Kris Kirk, a 25-year-old Edwardsville resident he met at the same dance last year.

Seubert, 26, of Collinsville modestly said that, although he was a little nervous about popping the question, the embarrassment of Kirk possibly saying "No" in front of 400 people was the least of his worries.

"Proposing wasn't the hard part," said Seubert. "The hard part was keeping it a secret."

Madison school finances improve, but remain limited

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

The Madison School District has escaped from the state's financial watch list, which it had been on since 1988.

The State Board of Education recently completed a review of the schools' financial reports for the 1990-91 school year. As a result of the positive review, the district was taken off the list.

The financial watch list identifies school districts that could be facing financial problems, based on comparison of the district's fund balance to its annual revenue. If the balance is 5 percent or less, including any negative balance, the district is placed on the list.

Districts being removed from the watch list either reflect a fund balance of more than 5 percent or, in some cases, improvement between 1989-90 and 1990-91.

"We're glad to be off, but being on the list was more of a psychological warning," Madison School Superintendent Dan Kostencki said Tuesday.

"We knew of the problem, and everything we've done since 1988 has been to avoid a financial disaster. The Madison district had been avoiding deficit spending in recent years, Kostencki said, but state cutbacks have caused a serious loss of funding.

Cutbacks during the 1988-89 school year brought layoffs in administrative, teaching, custodial and cafeteria positions, Kostencki said. Louis Baer School was closed.

Reductions in sports costs were approved. These included removal of soccer, baseball and girls softball teams and cuts in football and basketball programs.

"I've got a good school board to work with. The board members have made the necessary decisions, and we stand behind them," Kostencki said.

Although the district went on the watch list in 1988, it has been operating "in the black" the last two years, he said.

The district is not yet clear of financial concerns, despite its progress, Kostencki said.

"The state is decreasing what they had budgeted for us by 1.8 percent as well as delaying June aid payments to us until July. These situations put us in a precarious position," he said. "We (See MADISON, Page 8A)

At age 59, Massa is starting over

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

Nearly seven years after going to federal prison for his role in a scheme to steal more than $16 million from the now-defunct Stix & Co. brokerage, James Massa is looking forward to his 60th birthday, and to starting a new life.

Massa, who was convicted in 1983 of mail fraud, securities fraud, violating securities laws, wire fraud and conspiracy, was sentenced to 20 years in prison and $53,000 in fines.

He was released from prison two weeks ago, after serving the minimum 80 months. He is residing at Dismas House, a halfway house in St. Louis, until April 25.

The former Collinsville attorney, who will turn 60 on Feb. 25, filed a motion 18 months ago that contends he did not get a fair trial, and asks for a summary judgment to overturn his conviction.

The motion claims that the government knowingly used false testimony by three different government witnesses and that what he was convicted of was technically not even a crime.

Prosecutors in the case said Massa used phony securities and money supplied to him by Thomas Brimberry, a former Granite City resident, to buy stock in Stix — knowing that Brimberry had stolen the money from Stix.

But Massa still says he did not know the money he got from Brimberry was tainted. He says that during a back-room conference during the trial, "the government prosecutor admitted that I didn't know there was stolen stock in my account or stolen money."

Massa said he plans to go to the courthouse next week to try to speed up the process to see why his motion is taking so long.

Although he has already served his jail time, Massa said it is important to him to try to have the case overturned so that he can clear his name and resume practicing law.

He said he's still readjusting to life on the outside.

"Everything is new, different, strange, wonderful," he said.

Venice

Booked for resisting

A Venice officer scuffled Feb. 4 with a man who allegedly refused to be handcuffed after being placed under arrest.

Officer Cantrell Patterson said he knew the suspect, Miguel L. Prothro, 20, of the 800 block of Bissell Street was wanted on a warrant.

The suspect allegedly resisted, causing both to fall to the ground. Patterson suffered a sprained shoulder and his departmental gloves were damaged.

After being restrained, Prothro was booked for criminal damage to property and resisting arrest.

License charge filed

Venice police arrested John Q. Garrett, 19, of the 200 block of W. Third St. in Madison on Feb. 5 for driving with a suspended license. Garrett, arrested at Route 3 and Broadway, was also booked on a Madison County warrant for failure to appear to a charge of disregarding a stop sign.

Cited for suspension

James A. Evans, 21, of Alton was arrested Feb. 3 by Venice police on charges of driving with a suspended license and having no proof of liability insurance.

Venice to consider prom wear sale plan

By Randy Vaughn
Staff writer

Plans that are being made could save money for Venice School prom goers.

The Venice PTA will propose a fund-raising event in which formal wear, specifically prom dresses and tuxedos, will be sold at bargain prices in the school gymnasium.

The Venice School Board will consider the proposal at its meeting tonight.

Tentative dates proposed for the event are Saturday, March 7, or March 21. The prom is scheduled for early May.

The idea is to give individuals who have formal wear an opportunity to sell it. Those wishing to buy formal wear would be able to purchase it at low prices.

"Someone can get a nice dress and not spend a lot of money," Cynthia Crawford, chairman of the PTA Public Relations Committee, said. "Or someone can get some money for a $200-plus prom dress that is taking up space in their closet but will never be used again."

The proposed registration fee for space to sell products is $5, with a maximum of three pieces. Each additional piece of formal wear would bring a $1 additional charge.

Bargains are in big demand because of the tough economic times, Crawford said, adding that similar fund-raising events have been successful in the Granite City School District.

Students of any age from all schools would be welcome to sell or buy.

Parents would also be welcome to sell or buy for their children who are going to attend a school prom, Crawford said.

The registration fees would go to the PTA. Money from the sale of the formal wear, which would be decided upon by each individual, would go directly to the individual selling the clothing.

Those interested in selling formal wear must make sure the attire is cleaned prior to the event, PTA officers said.

State money woes likely to worsen

SPRINGFIELD — A weak economy and the loss of one-time revenues will leave the already strapped state with less money next fiscal year, according to a new forecast.

The Legislature's Economic and Fiscal Commission projects the state's general revenue fund will have $4 million less to spend in the fiscal year starting July 1. The commission projects a drop from $14.409 billion in estimated revenues this year to $14.405 billion.

The forecast anticipates some moderate increases in major state tax revenues, particularly the income tax, but that will be offset by the loss of one-time revenues.

For example, the commission is forecasting a $203 million increase in personal income tax receipts (4.1 percent higher) and $64 million more in corporate tax revenues, (8.7 percent higher). But it notes local governments will get $70 million of the increased income tax revenue because state law mandates the municipal share climbs from 3 percent to 4.4 percent.

About $560 million in accelerated tax collections and transfers from special funds that boosted money for the general revenue fund this year won't be available, the commission anticipates.

Another major hit in revenue is expected to come from a projected $62 million loss in interest income because of continued low interest rates.

The Economic and Fiscal Commission said it expects the state's economy will not start climbing out of recession until the final quarter of 1992.

The governor's budget bureau will not make its revenue forecasts public until Gov. Jim Edgar unveils his budget plan on April 7, spokeswoman Ellen Feldhausen said.

However, Feldhausen said, bureau officials generally agree that "(fiscal) 1993 is going to be a tight year."

So let the Japanese talk

Japanese industrialists who are critical of the American work ethic may actually be worried about their own workers. So says Eugene Soviak, an expert on Japanese history and culture at Washington University in St. Louis, basing it on a concern about the Japanese workers' flagging enthusiasm for the demanding pace at work.

"They have to maintain their position in the world. If everyone doesn't work fanatically, it will start to slip," Soviak said.

But, Soviak said, "historical law" indicates an industrialized society will eventually plateau and the Japanese may be fighting the inevitable.

Historical law, as applied to the industrialized society of the United States, provides a chilling example of "working fanatically" in the early part of this century. At the time, President Calvin Coolidge called such work "the business of America" and most Americans agreed with him.

The economy was booming, industry was booming and no country in the world had ever produced so much so fast. When it came to new and better, America was the envy of the world. So how could anyone find fault with the American system?

In 1926, along came Karel Capek. A Czechoslovakian who had never been to America, a writer whose claim to fame was coining the word "robot" in the play R.U.R. (Rossum's Universal Robots), Capek pronounced to the world that "the American system could never work in Europe."

Not willing to let that go unchallenged, the New York Times Magazine asked Capek to explain himself in print. He did, using the building of his house as an example. There, he said, the bricklayers would lay three bricks and then take time to discuss politics, to debate philosophy, maybe even drink a beer. As a result, Capek said, it took three years to finish the house.

The Americans, he said, would "fly at the work," complete the house in a couple of weeks and then move on to build another and another. The American-built house, he said, would not necessarily be of any lesser quality but it would lack character.

Capek said, "My house reflects the character of the workers who took time to discuss politics and drink a beer and, as a result, my house has a feeling of permanence that the American house is lacking."

In other words, when things have suddenly appeared on the scene, it shouldn't come as a surprise if one day they just as suddenly disappear.

Capek had no way of knowing it, but three years later, on a black Friday in October, the American system would come to a crashing end. All of that "fanatic work" had produced too much, had pushed the economy too far too fast and everything came down like a house of cards.

If that is "historical law," then let the Japanese criticize our work ethic.

For all of its effort in the last three decades, and try as it might, Japan has not produced a '57 Chevy, a Harley-Davidson flathead, a Corvette Stingray, a '69 GTO, a Shelby Mustang or even a Nash Rambler — classics people will continue to own with pride well into the next century.

And, with all of its emphasis on knowledge, where are Japan's great thinkers like Linus Pauling, Milton Friedman, Frank Lloyd Wright, Stephen Gould, Buckminster Fuller, Richard Feynman, or even Carl Sagan?

So if, by Japanese standards, workers who have time to think, talk and enjoy working and living are lazy workers, well, so be it. American workers are smart — they have learned from history.

And, if someone in Japanese management is worried his workers might be following in the Americans' footsteps, he probably should be. Chances are his workers are smarter than him.

2nd 'Al the Pal' Senate candidate

(Opinion by Thomas F. Roesser, a Chicago political consultant.)

You say we already have one Democratic senator named Al (the Pal Dixon) who, as politician, may be as obvious as a wart on a bald head? Listen, vic's right to exploit for his liberal primary challengers, a wealthy personal-injury lawyer also named Al who wants to replace him. Al Hofeld's the name. Watch him.

You can do it. He'll be on TV in productions directed and choreographed with professional style.

He's the distinguished, prematurely white-haired guy, an advocate of those maimed in unfortunate accidental situations, a personal-injury lawyer sensitive to the sorrows of the exploited, angered at the dishonesty of most politicians.

Now this is a real Al, the exploited people's pal. A reformer. He's fought the big interests, the big money, the big power, the big passion. For laboriously wringing meat and bread from the reluctant grasp of carnal exploitive industry for the maimed, helpless or, if they are dead, their deprived widows and orphans.

You need to know more about him. Take one of the few times he ventured out of his paid media cocoon to be interviewed — by John Callaway, senior correspondent for WTWTW's "Chicago Tonight."

It was on Jan. 22, a day that will live in infamy (yes, there is a fancy just as an infamy) in the annals of all who want their candidates to be resourceful, enterprising, courageous.

Mr. Callaway asks him how he stands on health care. He leans forward, intently I play the video all the time, you see. "Any bill is better than what we now have. And we need it yesterday."

How do you like that? Moreover, he can support any health-care bill that has five conditions:

1. "Guaranteed health care for every American citizen."

2. "A prohibition against insurance companies from excluding people with pre-existing conditions. I.e., from denying health care to them."

3. "Cost-containment on hospitals and doctors."

4. "Cost-containment on pharmaceuticals, on drugs. This is not contained in any of the bills and on drug prices are ripping people off and that needs to be held down." (Someone that insinuates here, but our champion is excited about the burning need and allows his rhetoric to muddy.)

5. And finally, he favors "the ability of any of us to see any doctor we wish without any extra charge."

But then Mr. Callaway asks if this personal-injury lawyer would "favor limitations on award of malpractice." Answer from Mr. Hofeld: "No, because I don't think it would have any effect."

You see, of the more than $700 billion spent on medical care in this country, only less than 1 percent, according to a GAO study, (the Government Accounting Office, an arm of Congress that contains some veteran PI lawyers) "has to do with malpractice." Ergo: Caps all around except for his trade.

Here indeed is a progressively liberal version of Robin Hood, with a reformist nuance.

Every year in the U.S., individuals and businesses expend more than $80 billion on direct litigation costs; this amounts to more than $300 billion. In 1989, more than 18 million civil suits were filed — one for every 10 adults. The answer is still "no" from so-called Hofeld.

I know you agree that we have at last found an honest man determined to protect his economic interest.

Al Hofeld, were he made our senator, could be counted on to make the countless shrewd, tacticians and sagacious decisions to hold the Senate's primitive lusts and appetites in laudable check.

Now we know what Sandburg meant when he asked: "Why does a horse snicker carrying a personal-injury lawyer's bones?"

Letters

Important to all to buy American

TO THE EDITOR:

This letter was done the morning after I saw a buy-American news report on Warren, Ohio.

Many incentives are being passed along to the American consumer. The American public needs all the help we can get. But this letter still has strong merits.

We, the American people, also need to stimulate our ailing economy.

Let's not think in terms of personal gains for an incentive to buy, but instead, let's think of gains nationwide or what we can put back into our economy.

Every dollar we spend on American products means that community has one extra dollar being circulated within. Perhaps some of the dollars will find its way to your work place and again put you back on the payroll.

Let's challenge each worker to perform his duties to the best of his ability. Then let's challenge the companies and corporations that produce in foreign countries to also come home.

Warren, Ohio. Jump-start America. What a terrific idea.

The economy is down; no one is working. Refusals to purchase American-made products have caught up with the American people.

I feel the tide turns. The American worker may have run behind Japanese technology and created this monster, but I look around and listen. We are reversing. I can see the determination of the American worker on the daily news reports.

We are tired of producing consumer goods that cannot compete on our open market. Listen. Everyone will tell you that American pride is returning.

Warren, Ohio, you can jump-start America with business-sponsored rewards. Quite frankly, we need this nationwide. We need not stop there. I can now do my part and hope every brother and sister worker in America will do the same.

As with many last year, my work was next to none. Unemployment insurance was exhausted twice and soon my extended benefit program will do the same.

Last week I was miles from my house and needed a screwdriver to perform a minor task. I went into a local hardware store and asked for the cheapest one in stock. In a box on the counter were screwdrivers, wrenches, sockets, etc., 99 cents each.

I picked up two of various sizes to insure I had the correct size. Boy, they looked good; very professional. I rolled one around in my hand and saw China stamped on the handle.

I thought of how little I wanted to spend. I thought of the American worker that manufactures screwdrivers.

How many other plants and companies are involved in the manufacturing of one product? This went through my mind as I prepared to pay for this item.

One worker does not get a hunk of steel and a tree and make a screwdriver. Many American families must be involved. The purchase of one little item can mean jobs for many workers.

This 99-cent item was no longer acceptable to me. An American-made product of $2.39 and one for $8.99 were purchased in Japan, China, Taiwan and all others. Keep your inferior product. It is time for me, and I hope others, to "trickle" charge our economy.

I am not in the market for a new or better automobile, so this $400-plus incentive does not work for me. But as an American and an unemployed worker, I know where the real issue has to start: with me.

For no reason whatsoever will I purchase foreign in the future, large or small, when my American counterpart can be gotten, and I know they are out there.

Pick the item up and look it over. If you cannot find U.S.A. on it, do not buy it. I honestly believe that, on a smaller scale, we can all trickle charge our economy.

Oh yes, I have dozens of screwdrivers and do not need two new ones at a more expensive price. Or do I? I don't think I could afford the cheap one.

Alternatives are being offered

TO THE EDITOR:

Recently my church has been studying about abortion. Local churches can and do establish assistance in being offered now over special telephone "hot lines."

The emphasis is on the alternatives to abortion that are available.

The Home Mission Board now has a toll-free number to assist individuals and churches in offering abortion alternatives. That abortion "help line" became operational on Oct. 1, 1989. The number is 1-800-962-0651.

Churches and individuals interested in establishing a crisis pregnancy center can receive assistance from the Home Mission Board in setting up such centers by calling the toll-free number.

The Sellers Baptist Home and Adoption Center offers the only adoption services provided by a Southern Baptist Convention agency.

It is affiliated with the Home Mission Board. It is located at 2010 Peniston St., New Orleans, La. 70115-5398.

Since 1983, the Sellers Baptist Home and Adoption Center has provided services to young women with problem pregnancies.

Such troubled women can call toll-free 1-800-552-9243. Fees are based on medical costs, but no one is refused service because they cannot pay the fee.

To them we say, Jesus loves you and we love you, too.

Between 2 cities

TO THE EDITOR:

I'm writing in response to the article about Mr. Antonovich's ongoing debate about his residence.

The article, City Attorney Casper Nighobossian stated that, because of mutual-agreement and common sense, there have not been any problems deciding which city provides fire and police protection in an emergency.

Well, maybe in common sense the two cities, Madison and Granite City, have ignored the obvious problem for years. I was glad to read that Mr. Nighobossian is going to have to address this matter now.

We vote and reside in Granite City, but just had our address changed by the Post Office to Madison last year, without even a "sorry for the inconvenience."

This is just one example of how common sense is thrown out and confusion takes over.

Let's hope this matter will be settled soon, and let common sense and fairness be the guide.

Man's life saved

TO THE EDITOR:

Last August, I respiratory arrested while in Granite City. Granite City paramedics from the Fire Department were on the scene within three minutes and saved my life.

Thank you Dave Bell, Greg Nighobossian, Bryan Schmitke, Gene Linnagton, Burt Houston, Mike Richardson and Tom Hollis.

Thanks also, Dr. Zefferin, Dr. Steve Barr, Mike Southwick and all of the good people of St. Elizabeth Medical Center who helped me.

Senior senator vital to region

TO THE EDITOR:

I have read articles in our local newspapers suggesting that some Democratic voters are considering supporting one of the U.S. Senate candidates from Chicago in the March 17 primary election.

Do we really want to take a chance on replacing the senior senator from Illinois, the chief deputy majority whip of the U.S. Senate?

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, he has fought hard to keep defense bases and defense-related jobs here in a region that relies so much on that industry.

I understand that some Democrats do not agree with every vote cast by Alan Dixon. I do not always agree with Alan Dixon on every issue.

However, to risk "sending him a message" in the primary election, to jeopardize the strong support our area has had from him for years, to me seems unthinkable.

I have not forgotten that Alan Dixon has been there for us each and every time we have needed him.

His support is evident — in a new Clark Bridge, the Price Lock and Dam, a new light rail system, Scott joint use, renovation of the McKinley Bridge ... and the list goes on.

I believe that we have a good team for the people of our area and the state of Illinois in the nation's capital. I urge Democratic voters to consider Alan Dixon's total record of support for our region, and to vote to re-elect Sen. Alan Dixon on March 17.

Bad site choice

TO THE EDITOR:

The new gazebo located on Madison Avenue near the Post Office should have been constructed on the other side of Madison Avenue, across the street from the Post Office on the grassy median.

All local parades, the Shriners, Labor Day parade and others invariably march north on Madison Avenue and all review stands should be on the right.

When veterans groups are carrying the colors, eyes are always to the right, never to left, as the units pass in review.

The right side for a location of the gazebo review stand would have been proper for the passing of our American flag, which is carried by most of the fraternal and veterans groups in parades on Madison Avenue.

For what reason was the gazebo put on the left?

Veteran sought

TO THE EDITOR:

The sixth reunion of Company C, 503rd and 504th Regiments of World War II will be held in Kansas City in September 1992.

Carroll Wright, a World War II veteran whose last known address was Granite City, served in Co. C in New Guinea and Borneo. We have been unable to contact him and any information about Wright would be greatly appreciated.

Our address until the end of March is Bentsen Palm #18 R.V. Park, Rural Route 11 Box 333, Mission, Texas 78772.

The address after March will be 21316 Foster Road, Wellington, Ohio 44090.

Businesses, organizations provide newspapers for local schools

Students at area schools will be getting a new learning tool thanks to many organizations and businesses in the area. The new learning tool will be updated each week.

Eighteen area businesses and service organizations will contribute Granite City Press-Record subscriptions to 12 local schools as part of Newspapers in Education Week.

The annual Newspaper in Education Week is scheduled from March 2 through 6 this year. It offers students updated information that can help them in English, reading, current events and civics studies.

Research indicates that the program is responsible for cultivating future newspaper use among young adults. The two-year study was directed by Gerald C. Stone, dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The findings of the study included: having been involved in NIE classes in school is associated with higher levels of newspaper use among young adults; NIE's greatest impact is among minority young adults; and future newspaper use can be fostered through any type of experience or learning situation that brings newspapers into the classroom.

YOUTH FOCUS: What is your favorite winter activity?

Asked of students at Venice Public School, Maryville School and Madison Middle School.

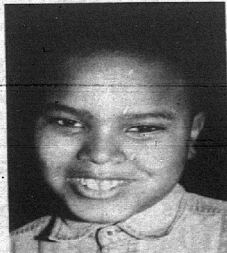

By Pam Doeppke-Hurd

Clara McCombs, Venice
"My favorite winter activity is ice skating. I like to glide on the ice like a speeding bullet. When ever I go ice skating I feel free. I feel that love can take over me. When I swirl around on my feet I feel like ice cream. When I first tried I was scared the ice would crack. Now it is my hobby."

Lanuard Bufkin, Venice
"My favorite winter activities are snow sculpturing and snowboarding. Snow sculpturing is fun. But you need a lot of snow to make things. I can make a lot of things. I like the Statue of Liberty, the Liberty Bell, houses, the Empire State Building, and other nice things."

"Snowboards are like skateboards, but it has no wheels. It takes a lot of skill to do tricks. You have to keep your balance. I like snowboarding. Once you try it you will like it too. Snowboarding is easy, you just have to balance yourself. I like to ride a skateboard. That's why snowboarding is easy to me."

VeAndrea Turner, Venice
"My favorite activity is sledding. I like going sledding because it is fun. I like going sledding when the ice makes the sled go fast. But sometimes you have to be careful not to fall off. Sledding is fun. You should go sledding one day, and believe me it is fun!"

Lanuard Bufkin

Lajohnna White, Venice
"My favorite winter activity is playing in the snow. It's my favorite because you can make creative things in the snow. I hate playing in the snow when it's snowing. I love when my friends and I have snowball fights. In the winter, my sister and I play in the snow. Sometimes when I'm through playing in the snow, I catch a cold. That's my favorite winter activity."

Charles Cotton, Venice
"My favorite winter activity is building snowmen. We go out and build a snowman every year. After that we start throwing snowballs at each other. We have lots of fun each year. All my cousins came over, and we had a snowball fight. We all go in the house and warm up, when we are cold."

Christy Wood, Granite City
"My favorite winter activities are sled riding and playing in the snow. I like them because it is fun sliding on ice and sliding down hills. I enjoy feeling the ice and snow under me. It's nice to be able to go so fast over the cold slippery ice. I like being able to go out and play and then come in and drink some hot chocolate."

Jacob Kamphoefner, Granite City
"My favorite winter activity is swimming. I swim at the Y.M.C.A. It can be very cold outside and I can still swim. Not only is it fun, but it is also good exercise. Since the pool is inside, I can swim even if the weather outside is terrible."

Matt Levari, Granite City
"My favorite winter activity is

Clara McCombs

billiards. I think that billiards is a great time passer."

"When I go to the billiards room, I like to talk to Bill. He's the overseer of the billiards room. He shows me how to play and shoot. One time I made all of the balls go in on the break shot, because Bill helped me."

Benny Lofink, Granite City
"My favorite winter activity is sledding, because it's fun sliding down steep hills, and not (See P. 6A) being able to control yourself. I especially like falling over."

Matt Grey, Granite City
 "My favorite game to play in the winter is ice hockey. The reason I like ice hockey is because you get to ice skate and shoot a puck in a goal. I liked ice hockey when I was five. My uncle plays ice hockey with me."

Erk L. Pierson, Madison
 "My favorite winter activity is helping people by shoveling people's snow, and help old people to get in their homes or out of their homes. The reason I like this is because I don't get in any trouble. And that I know it is safe."

April Dawn Wright, Madison
 "My favorite winter activity is building a snowcastle, when it snows a lot. One of the reasons for this is that a friend and I can go outside in-snow or her backyard and think of ways of building snowcastles. We then spend hours on building that snowcastle. The two of us then build a tunnel underneath the snowcastle, from one end to the other end."

Last but not least, we throw snowballs at the snowcastle till the tunnel gives way. And the castle collapses."

Cordell Ellis, Madison
 "My favorite winter activity is playing Nintendo. I like playing Nintendo because it is fun. I like playing my friends, and my cousins. I like the basketball games, football games, and the baseball games. I like the other games too."

Jeremy Nash, Madison
 "My favorite winter activity is to play Nintendo. I enjoy playing lots of games like Batman, Double Dribble, Top Gun, and several others. I like to have a challenge on any game I play. There are a lot of games to choose from."

Norlin L. Parker, Madison
 "My favorite winter activity is snowball fights. I like playing it because you get revenge on people and having a fun time doing it. Another reason is that you can get outside and play in the snow for a little while. Until it gets very cold."

Mary Watts, Madison
 "My favorite activity is playing Nintendo, and doing work from my work book. I like to play Nintendo because it makes great finger exercise. I like to use workbooks to get ahead with my work. Plus, I like to help people for extra allowance."

Adam Vrabec, Madison
 "In the winter I love to have snowball fights with my friends. I like to play that activity because I like dodging the snowballs. It is also fun to play. I like hitting people with the snow, and I just like to be outside."

County band festival set for Saturday here

The Granite City schools will host the Madison County Band Festival on Saturday, Feb. 15. Selected students from area bands will gather at Prather Elementary School to rehearse and to perform a concert at 7 p.m.

The concert is open to the public. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Two directors have been engaged to rehearse and conduct the instrumentalists. Working with junior high school students will be Robert Cohnmeyer, director of bands at Belleville East High School. Kenneth Conrady, a retired band director in the Alton school system, will direct the elementary band.

Participating schools are: Granite City elementary and junior highs; St. Paul Lutheran of Highland; Alton elementary and junior highs; Edwardsville elementary and junior highs; Collinsville elementary and junior highs; Roxana elementary and junior highs; and Bethalto elementary and junior highs. Dinner for the students will be prepared by the Granite City High School Band Parents Association.

This program is sponsored by the Madison County Regional School Superintendent's Office.

Mark 9:23... "If thou canst believe..."

There is much to be said about this statement by Jesus. The fact that he says "If thou canst believe..."

As a matter of fact, there are only two options for us in just about any matter concerning believing. We either do or we do not believe.

If this is the case then we must practice our believing faith in God. We must confess that God is able to do all things. We must confess that we are more than conquerors through him. We must believe that God is for us and not against us.

Never permit yourself to think in terms of defeat. Cast those thoughts out of your mind completely. Fill your mind with faith provoking thoughts. Quote scriptures that tell what God can do. It will lift your faith and thou canst believe...

Have a good week.

Refinancing requests continue strong at Metro East banks

By Liz Quirin
Staff writer

It's not the gold rush, but lenders in the Metro East said they're doing land office business as homeowners flock to banks and lending institutions to refinance their home loans.

Sandy Stoltz, president and chief executive officer of all Central banks, headquartered in Fairview Heights, said people begin refinancing when long-term home mortgage rates dipped below 10 percent.

"Sometimes people will refinance again within a six-month period if the rates are low enough they can take advantage of the saving over the long term," Stoltz said.

On Monday, interest rates at some area banks ranged from 8 1/2 percent to just below 9 percent, with some institutions charging points for loans while others did not.

One point equals 1 percent of the loan amount. On a $75,000 loan, one point equals $750.

Kenny Frank, president of the Fairview Heights Central Bank, said the bank is doing five times its normal volume because of refinancing.

Lenders said customers must decide whether the benefits of cutting payments or reducing the number of years to pay on the loan outweigh the costs that accompany refinancing the loan.

At Magna Bank in Belleville, employees are processing seven times the normal number of loan applications with the bulk of their paper work coming from refinancing of home loans, said Bob Harris, a Magna vice president.

Monday, Magna Bank in Belleville announced it would offer refinancing of home loans only to Magna customers with savings or checking accounts at any of the Magna locations.

"We have our first obligation to our customers," Harris said. Until Monday, Magna was accepting applications for refinancing from everyone, but the volume of business caused the change in policy.

"Business started picking up in October, and every month after that was bigger than the one prior," Harris said.

Ken Minnigerode, branch sales manager for Norwest Mortgage Inc. in Belleville, said Norwest has been answering about 600 calls per day recently, and Norwest customers want to talk about refinancing their original loans.

Norwest's Belleville office usually handles about $5 million in loans but with the lower interest rates, and employees working nights and weekends, the company is processing about $15 million in new and refinanced home loans, Minnigerode said.

While Minnigerode said the company places the highest priority loans for people buying homes, refinancing loans make up about 50 percent of the those being processed now.

Boatmen's National Bank of Belleville has also experienced increased activity in refinancing home loans, said Dennis Bielek, president and chief executive officer.

But Bielek, like others in banking, said he had no crystal ball to tell him whether the rates would move up or down in the next few weeks.

"In this particular market, the rates are set by the purchaser,"

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes employees who are injured on the job are reluctant to file a Workers' Compensation claim. In many cases, the employee fears that the employer will terminate him if he files such a claim. An Illinois employee who is fired for exercising his rights under the Workers' Compensation Act can bring suit against the employer for retaliatory discharge.

In one recent case, a woman was hired on a temporary basis to wrap and box assorted candies at a confections company in Chicago. She had an accident on the job shortly after she was hired, and she filed a Workers' Compensation claim. Fifteen days after she filed the claim, the plaintiff was informed that she was fired.

The worker testified that she was terminated because she filed the claim. She indicated in her testimony that two of her supervisors had stated this to her. The company, on the other hand, claimed that she was only a temporary employee, and that she knew this from the time she was hired. One of the worker's supervisors testified that the plaintiff was "laid off" as a result of a seasonal decline in production. A jury awarded the plaintiff $65,000 in damages based on a finding that she was fired in retaliation for filing a Workers' Compensation claim.

The Appellate Court reversed the decision of the trial court because they felt there was not sufficient proof that the plaintiff's discharge was "causally related" to the filing of her claim. The Appellate Court noted that there were no witnesses to the alleged statements of her supervisors that she was fired as a result of the Workers' Compensation claim.

The Appellate Court felt that the record revealed that the plaintiff was "laid off" because of a seasonal decline in production of the company. They felt it was significant that the plaintiff was laid off in the ordinary course of events along with numerous other temporary employees. For all of these reasons, it was felt the evidence was insufficient to support the jury's verdict that the plaintiff was a victim of retaliatory discharge.

Despite the fact that the Appellate Court here decided in favor of the employer, cases like this are important because they recognize the right of the employee to bring an action for retaliatory discharge. An injured employee can feel free to file a Workers' Compensation claim knowing that Illinois law will protect him in this situation.

are playing a game where we're losing resources during the game. But the most serious situation affecting the district has been its declining enrollment and low tax base, Kostenick said. The district had 1,218 students in September 1991, a decrease of 277 since 1987 and a 586 decline since the 1980-81 school year. The assessment base within the district has been stable over the last few years, but it is low compared to other districts of similar size, Kostenick said.

as well as go smoke crack with them, because it would be all over." But, Echols said, "I haven't heard about whole departments (using drugs). What I have heard is one here and one there. If we're talking $40,000 or $50,000, I think we can well afford it." Venice is a small community, Echols said, and the aldermen how many potential rehabilitation cases the city has employed. "I'm not talking about the bill," Echols said. "I've personally been called the biggest drug dealer in Venice for five years, so I know what bull is. But, I think you all are smart enough to know I'm on the truth." Alderman Henry Fletcher expressed concern that alcohol was being considered on the same level as cocaine. He said he didn't want some policeman, who happened to have attended a party, to be fired because a drug test showed he drank some alcohol. Echols said that wasn't the idea behind testing for alcohol. But, he said, "if a guy comes to work who appears drunk, and if he flunks a breathalyzer, you don't want him going ahead and driving a dump truck." Since alcohol is legal, Echols said, he couldn't see firing someone just because they had a drink. "I'm not going to resign if I flunk a breathalyzer test," Alderman John Henry Williams said he believes the aldermen should also be a part of any drug testing program. "We can't be making laws for other people if we can't follow them ourselves." Echols and the other aldermen all agreed they would not object to being tested for drugs.

Love

Before the proposal, Seubert was scurrying around the Holldome trying to iron out all the details of the big event. The cameraman needed more lighting. The D.J. needed to be kept out of sight from Seubert's parents came all the way from Bloomington, Ind., just to see the big event, but they needed to be kept out of sight from Kirk until just before the zero hour.

All this running around didn't sit too well with Seubert's future fiancée.

"After a while, Kris was starting to look like she was a little perturbed at me for not spending much time with her," said Seubert. "She said she was mad because five guys had come up to her and asked her to dance while I was gone."

no cost-containment measures and does not prevent insurance "bans" on high-risk patients. "You simply can't do it under the tax codes," Dixon said. "President Bush isn't the only candidate who refuses to address the health care issue head-on," Dixon said. "Al Hofeld attacks me for my strong stand in favor of national health insurance, but as of this morning he still has not offered his own proposal to reform the health care system."

Rate

Until then, the same 9.1 percent boost will be applied across the board on residential, industrial and commercial customers. However, in the last rate increase in 1990, the original 7.7 percent overall rate boost was redistributed so residential customers ended up paying about 9.6 percent more while commercial and industrial customers paid about 7.1 percent more. The 1990 rate increase, which had brought 61 percent of Clinton's cost into the base, boosted the annual revenues by about $75 million. It followed a 6.9 percent, $60 million increase approved in March 1989. Clinton cost about $4.2 billion and represents about two-thirds of Illinois Power's total assets.

One Clinton-related controversy still afloat. The ICC rejected the power company's request to include $102 million in deferred charges or "carry costs" in its rate base, which could have boosted revenues by another $19 million. The charges are what the company claims it lost operating Clinton before customers started paying for it in March 1989.

Senior citizens plan Valentine's Day breakfast

Lucille Martin covers the Pontoon Beach scene for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-0731.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department met Feb. 6 at the Fire Hall on Pontoon Road.

The meeting was chaired by Audrey Ribbing, president. Meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer and eight members answered roll call.

Minutes of the 465th meeting approved as read and a financial report was made, showing that 1991 books were reviewed and accepted as required by state.

Sick and Cheer Committee reported sending flowers to Lucille Sobczak, while in the hospital, and card to Charles Kennerly. Members are to bring suggestions to March meeting for Ladies Nite Out.

Lucille Martin

The Auxiliary authorized additional money, over budget allocation, for Family Picnic Committee, since attendance at picnics is increasing.

Project for Holiday Harvest was discussed and committee will be appointed.

Attendance prize was won by Margaret Suggs.

After the meeting, hostess Audrey Ribbing served refreshments, with a Valentine theme, to Corrine Kreher, Etta Rutherford, Diana Naney, Evelyn Ring-ering, Margaret Suggs, Mabel Kennerly, Lucille Sobczak. Hostesses for March 5 meeting will be Etta Rutherford and Corrine Kreher.

On Wednesday, Feb. 5, at a meeting of the Pontoon Senior Citizens, the birthdays of Al Cape, Lea Andersen and Helen Cholevik were celebrated. The birthday song was sung to them and a beautifully decorated cake was served to the 65 present.

Dr. Mike Smith is the guest teacher at the Pontoon Baptist Church this week, teaching the book Isaiah.

The Association Madison County Seniors will be having a Valentine's Day breakfast at Shoeness on Friday the 14th at 9 a.m.

Auditions set for summer stock shows at SIUE

Open auditions for Summer Showbiz '92, the annual non-Equity summer stock season at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 15.

The location will be Room 2039 of SIUE's Communications Building theater.

The three shows scheduled this season are "Noises Off," a comedy, and "Pump Boys and Dinettes" and "Big River," both Broadway musical hits.

Callbacks will begin at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 16, also in Room 2039.

Those auditioning should prepare a comic monologue one and a half to two minutes long, and sing a country-western or folk song.

A piano accompanist will be provided, but those who play guitar, banjo or accordion are encouraged to accompany themselves.

Sheet music, a resume, and a "headshot" photograph should also be provided.

For an audition appointment, call the SIUE department of theater and dance, 692-2772.

Regional comes easy for matmen

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

The Warrior wrestling team hardly broke a sweat in winning the Cahokia Regional championship.

Granite City (24-0) built a 31-0 lead and blasted Belleville East 43-12 at Memorial Gymnasium on Tuesday to win its first team regional since 1986. The Warriors advance to the team sectional in Bethalto on Feb. 25.

They will meet Edwardsville (23-2-1) in the semifinals. Regional winners from Centralia and Springfield will meet in the other semi, with the final held later that evening.

Consecutive victories by Jason Moerlen (125 pounds), Dan Hicks (130) and Mark McKechan (135) put the win on ice as the Lancers finished their dual meet season at 15-6.

"I thought we could win the first three bouts," Granite City coach Mike Garland said. "But it was wide open between 125 and 135 pounds. We won those matches by a total of four points and it gave us a huge lift."

GRANITE CITY 43, Belleville East 12
103 - PAT SCHEFFER beat Kevin Trapp 12-2; 112 - T.J. SLAY beat Marcus Myers 8-2; 119 - RYAN KING pinned Mike Meyer 7-1 in 3:32; 126 - JASON MOERLEN beat Ed Morton 5-4; 130 - DAN HICKS beat Jason Rapp 6-4; 135 - MARK MCKECHAN beat Tony Byrd 5-4; 140 - CHRIS HOFFSTOT beat Bill Phillips 6-3; 145 - JERRY HEUSCHMAN pinned Jason Hagg 10-3; 152 - Justin Henschman pinned TONY BUCHER in 2:54; 160 - Brad Horner beat SCOTT SIMON 14-8; 171 - Matt Dahm beat ANDY RICHARDS 11-8; 188 - JEFF HEUSCHMAN pinned Aaron Littlejohn in 1:37; 275 - AL WILLARD beat Jeff Dahm at 2:35 over Matt Russell.

Poor execution by East helped. A third caution foul against Ed Morton handed Moerlen a 3-4 victory. Hicks outlasted Jason Rapp 6-4 and McKechan pulled off a reverse with 1:25 left in his match to beat Tony Byrd, 5-4.

"You get the breaks when you wrestle hard," Garland said. "Jason got Morton all worked up and forced a mistake. Hicks stuck his nose in there against Rapp, and Mark kept working and picked up some crucial points."

"That's what happens when you're aggressive. You're not going to score sitting around."

East coach Norm Dahm felt the pressure got to his kids. "It's plain and simple: Our kids choked," Dahm said. "Our lower weights couldn't handle the pressure and let us down. If we win those matches (125-135), it's a different story."

East broke the shutout at 152 pounds when Justin Henschman pinned Tony Buchek (2:54). They also won the next two bouts, but it was much too late.

"Our guys couldn't score on the takedown," Dahm said. "Granite City did an excellent job of counter wrestling. Every time we got in position to make a move, they recovered."

"That's been our strength all season," Garland said. "Our people have done a good job avoiding the pin. We're forcing people to wrestle us on our feet."

Belleville East, which hadn't lost a match since losing to Granite City 42-20 on Jan. 10, also survived a huge scare. Heavyweight Matt Russell strained his left knee against Al Willard and lost by default — his first loss in 15 matches.

"It's nothing serious," Dahm said. "Matt should be able to wrestle in the sectionals (Friday and Saturday)."

Garland knows there's still a long road ahead.

"I'm glad we won the regional," he said. "But there's no time to celebrate. We still have a lot of work to do before we start slapping ourselves on the back."

Redwings win SWC; beat Lady Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

The Lady Warriors stood between the Alton Redwings and their first conference title since 1985.

They weren't in the way for long.

Alton scored the first 11 points, then scored the final 16 points of the first half on the way to an easy 55-39 win on Tuesday. The Redwings clinched the Southwestern Conference title with a 7-2 league record as they improved to 18-7 overall. Granite City fell to 5-5, 13-8.

Instead of having a shot at a share of the SWC crown, the Lady Warriors will have to settle for a tie for third with Belleville East and West, or a tie for fourth with East if the Maroons beat Alton tonight. Granite City ends the regular season tonight in Jerseyville.

"We never really got started on offense or defense," said coach Allen Lobdell. "The only

12 wrestlers aim for state this weekend

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

The Warrior wrestling team hopes to continue its mastery at Memorial Gymnasium this weekend.

They host the individual sectional. The tournament begins tomorrow at 6 p.m., with Saturday sessions scheduled for noon and 6 p.m. As was the case in the regional, the Warriors are considered heavy favorites.

"I can easily see Granite City sending a bunch of wrestlers to state," East coach Norm Dahm said. "They have great balance. It's a strong lineup that can wrestle well as a team and on its own."

But Granite City coach Mike Garland, who will have 12 of his wrestlers competing, sees things a little differently.

"I've always considered the sectional three preliminary matches before the state tournament," he said. "The competition's going to be tough. I don't know if we can get that many wrestlers out of the sectional. The field's loaded with talent."

Donald Roberts (41-0) with 25 pins at 145 pounds of Cahokia tops the list. He's joined by Charles DeWalt (103, 13-6) of East St. Louis Lincoln, who pinned Pat Scheffer to win the regional title. Roger Harris of Cahokia is 34-1 at 130. Heavyweight Steve Madison of Civic Memorial, Jermaine Boyd (140) and Darin Reiter (189) of Edwardsville, and Stephan Galanos (140) of Carbondale are other top contenders.

"We've had some success (See SECTIONAL, Page 5B)

Slighted Maroons host Warriors in SWC test

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Bill Schmidt is a little peeved. His gripe isn't with the Warriors, but he would like to take out his frustrations on them Friday.

Schmidt, the Belleville West basketball coach, felt his Maroons should have been one of the top four seeds in the Collinsville Sectional. But West was seeded fifth at Monday's meeting while the Warriors were third.

"Don't get me wrong, I have no gripes with Granite City," said Schmidt. "I definitely feel they're a top four team. But I think we should have been in there."

East St. Louis Lincoln is the fourth seed with a 12-7 record. The Maroons are 13-7 and are tied with No. 7 seed Collinsville for the Southwestern Conference lead. The Warriors (9-3 in the SWC, 15-7 overall) visit West on Friday at 8 p.m. in a big league matchup.

"We beat East St. Louis handily twice," said Schmidt. "And they beat Lincoln. I don't want to knock anybody who made the top four, but it's disappointing for our kids."

Meanwhile, the Warriors came up with big victories over Collinsville and Edwardsville just in time for the seeding meeting.

"I don't think we would have been a top four seed before the weekend," said coach Bill Ohlendorf. "West just didn't get enough respect in some places."

The Warriors need a win Friday to stay in the conference race. They lost 69-64 in overtime at home to the Maroons on Jan. 10. Guards Michael Dochwat and Drake Marshall didn't start that game after missing a practice that week. That might have been enough to make the difference.

"We need to have all our players on the floor and keep them there," said Ohlendorf. "I think Drake got 17 points in three quarters, and both of the Smiths fouled out of that game."

Marshall, Jeff and Brian Smith are averaging in double figures, as are Monte Dover, Sean Keefe and Matt Osborne for the Maroons.

"It all starts with the Smith kids and we also have to control Marshall," said Schmidt. "And I know they're working in a couple of other kids (Larry Mosby and Leroy Samuels), who didn't have much experience when we played them last time."

After the Warriors beat Collinsville 65-51 on Friday, the Kahoks came back and thumped the Maroons 82-55 on Saturday.

"I don't like to compare scores," said Schmidt. "A lot of teams get beat like that in Collinsville. We're not pushing any panic buttons because of that."

NOTES: The seeds for the sectional 1 through 16 are Jacksonville, Collinsville, Granite City, Lincoln, Belleville West, Jerseyville, Edwardsville, East St. Louis, Alton, Civic Memorial, Cahokia, Belleville East, Wood River, Taylorville, Roxana and Chatham Glenwood.

Anchors Aweigh — Larry Earney of Granite City High School signs his letter of intent last week. Earney, an offensive lineman for the Warriors, was accepted to the United States Naval Academy and will play his first year at the Academy's prep school in Newport, R.I. Watching him sign are his parents Larry and Sharon Earney and (in back, left to right) Warrior football coach Tom Wyrostek, assistant coach Larry Curry, GCHS principal Dave Painter and District 9 superintendent Gib Walmsley.

against those people," Garland said. "Our guys are wrestling hard. They're peaking at the right time."

Jason Moerlien (125) is a good example. He won the regional title Saturday by knocking off Ed Morton of Belleville East 13-2, then forced a mistake and beat Morton 5-4 in the dual team final Tuesday.

"I really didn't expect Jason to beat Morton twice," Garland said. "But he jumped all over him in the one match and frustrated Morton into a third caution foul (Tuesday). He's coming on, and so are the other guys. They're hungry."

The Warriors have five regional champions (T.J. Slav, Ryan King, Moerlien, Chris Hoffstot and Jeff Heubachman). They get first-round byes and need to win only two matches to qualify for state. The others (Pat Scheffer, Dan Hicks, Mark McKeehan, Jerry Heubachman, Scott Simon, Andy Richards and Al Willard). Scheffer, King, Hoffstot and Jerry Heubachman went to state last year. King also went as a sophomore in 1990.

But where does this Granite City team rate in school history? It's Granite City's first unbeaten team since 1973 (Granite City North was unbeaten seasons in 1982 and 1983).

"I'll let you know at the end of the season," Garland said. "The possibilities keep looking good, but we have a long way to go. I don't want to get caught up in what might be. We're just going to work our way up there and enjoy it as it comes."

•Alton

Alton had four players in double figures, led by Carrie Bechtold's 13 and Tonya Jackson's 14.

It was a big turnaround from the Lady Warriors' 74-51 win at home over Alton on Jan. 14.

"We played basketball tonight, I'm not sure what we were doing last time," said Alton coach Mary Bowling. "I think their coach might feel the same way tonight. We wanted to win the conference and we just came out and moved the whole game."

It was 11-6 before Cavanaugh scored Granite City's first basket halfway through the first quarter. Sykes scored to close the gap to 18-14 in the second quarter and was fouled. She missed the free throw and Cavanaugh rebounded with a chance to make it a two-point game. But she missed the layup and that was it.

Alton went on a 16-0 run to make it 34-14 at halftime. Carrie and Carrie Bechtold had 12 of the points and Jackson had the other four. The 5-1 junior point guard also had six assists and five steals.

"It was just one of those nights," said Lobdell. "If I knew why we came out and played like this every so often I would feel better about myself as a coach. When they had that big run I don't think we had more than two or three shots. We were just making bad passes."

The Lady Warriors open regional play with a 7:30 p.m. game Monday at Belleville East.
